We all appreciate the beautiful churches in our villages but the upkeep of these buildings is costly and on-going. We therefore invite anyone interested to be sponsored to either ride or stride to visit other churches in the area in aid of their village church building. Polite reminder – a local resident has asked us to include this strong - but polite - reminder “regarding the amount of dog poo that is being left on the pavements in Barnham. It seems to be getting worse and is not a pleasant thing to get on your shoes. Surely if you are responsible enough to own a dog, then that responsibility should include clearing up after Fido ... There is even a bin at the edge of the green for such packages!”

Euston Farm News - Hello everyone and welcome to a harvest roundup from Euston Farms. We started harvest on the 28th of June, just a little tiny bit but wasn't quite ready so we came back on the 29th and we were off! the Barley was harvested first but was very much split down the middle, light land was fit and ready but the heavier land still had some green plants in it. This just means we had to do 2 laps of the farm to harvest it. As soon as we had finished the barley the wheat was also ready so we started that the next day after a big clean down and went all the way through to the end. The hot dry weather was a real concern to us, the combine itself was a really low threat and is very capable of cutting in the hot weather. The issue is the flints and the combine touching the header on the ground by accident can be enough to strike a flame. Every day the combine is blown totally clean by the driver using a road compressor to blow all the dust and straw away so there is no build up of debris anywhere it shouldn't be. This allows the combine to maintain its airflow throughout the day. All the bales are done and nearly all carted back to the farm. We are just helping our neighbours at Elveden estate to get finished and then we will start preparation for 2023 crops, if it ever rains!

Fakenham Magna Parish Council meets bi-monthly. Our next meeting will be held on Tuesday 13th September, 2022 at Honington & Sapiston Village Hall commencing at 7:30pm.
